PROBATE COURT

TWO WOMEN ON JURY

The case of Julia E. Beck vs The Board of County Commissioners et al, an appeal to vacate road was before Judge Barber Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. This case was before the Probate Court about two years ago and affirmed the appeal to the Common Pleas Court but was carried to the Circuit Court who referred it back to Probate Court after technical errors were found for a new trial.

The jury drawn for this case were Fred Vonder, Jacob Pfaff, Dora Kolb, Earl Dunbar, Frank Mack, L. A. Skates, E. C. Wright, Harry Carter, Mrs. Frank Shaffer, John Frybarger, C. B. McLain and G. F. Sams. The names of two women were drawn and are serving on the jury. Mrs. Frank Kolb and Mrs. Frank Shaffer.

The trial was still in progress as we went to press.

Judge Allen Barber who is hearing this case is the first Probate Judge in 18 years to have a trial by jury, and he is handling it in a satisfactory manner.

COMMON PLEAS COURT

The trial of Beebe vs Beebe occupied all of last Friday in Common Pleas Court. A jury was not called and the case was held before Judge Wolf. A verdict was returned granting Mrs. Beebe, the plaintiff a divorce, but certain land rights have not as yet been settled. The defendant has only a life lease on the farm near Lyons.

In the case of Hollis vs Hollis action for divorce, the plaintiff was granted a divorce, lawyers fees and alimony.

AUTO ACCIDENT

An auto accident that might have proved fatal to County Superintendent and Mrs. C. D. Perry, happened at Copeland's Corners north of town Tuesday evening.

Supt. and Mrs. Perry were on their way to Wauseon and were approaching the corner from the north. They did not see or hear any car and were right at the corner when a Buick car approaching from the east, driven by H. A. Myers of Bryan was coming head on into them. Supt. Perry did not have time to stop, neither did he get by as the other car struck the rear of his car with such force that it overturned it throwing Supt. and Mrs. Perry out. Neither one was hurt seriously. Mrs. Perry had her face scratched and glasses broken while Supt. Perry received a wrench of shoulder and neck. It is a miracle that both of them were not killed.

Their car is badly wrecked. The Buick had a bumper on and therefore was not badly damaged.

THE WOODS OF AUTUMN

Ere, in the northern gale,
Th' summer tresses of the trees are gone,
The woods of Autumn, all around
Our vale,
Have put their glory on.

The mountains that infold,
In their wide sweep, the colored
landscape round,
Seem groups of giant kings, in purple
and gold,
That guard the enchanted ground.

I roam the woods that crown
The upland, where the mingled splendors glow,
Where the gay company of trees
On the green fields below.

Let in through all the trees,
Come the strange rays; the forest
depths are bright;
Their sunny-colored foliage, in the breeze,
Twinkles, like beams of light.

The rivulet, late unseen,
Where bickering through the shrubs
its waters run,
Shines with the image of its golden screen
And glimmerings of the sun.

PRICE VS QUALITY

By Harrison and Funkhouser Bros.

When a man enters a clothing store with the intention of buying a suit, there are two factors prominent in his mind, price and quality.

With some men, the two words would stand in the order in which they were just written, while with others, the order would be reversed.

With so many demands upon a man's income, price is, of necessity, an important consideration; every man is eager to be well dressed, as possible upon the sum that he feels able to spend for clothing and still keep within his means.

But there is one thing to be borne in mind, quality is remembered long after price is forgotten. One often hears the remark, "This is a fine wearing suit." But you seldom hear "This suit did not cost much."

A suit that falls to pieces or soon loses its shape is dear at any price. If a man buys a cheap suit which looks good in the store and which he thinks "will do," he does not stop to consider that in a short time he will be in the same position, buying another suit; when if he had paid a little more the first time and not allowed an attractive price tag to overcome his scruples as to its wearing quality, he would still be wearing a shapely suit and be several dollars ahead.

Quality is economy whether applied to a suit of clothes or to an automobile. Inferiority in either will cost more in repairs and in trying to make it look presentable more in time and money than the average man can afford to pay. Another thing: throughout the possession of either suit or auto he feels no confidence in it, nor can he feel proud of its appearance at any time.

The clothier who sells good clothing at a fair margin of profit is the man to patronize, for in dealing with him one is following the lines of true economy. And nowadays "Economy" and "Variety" seems to be the "Spice of Life."

Know a man by his clothier!
